

Title	URL	Profession	Purpose (my guess)	Use of			Global Nav										Content feels current?	Notes
				Images	Typography	Interactivity	Home	About	Portfolio	Twitter	Blog	Contact	Book	Speaking	In the News	Other Nav
Design Spasm (portfolio of Sean Geng)	http://designspasm.net/	web designer	Personal portfolio	+	+	+	x	x	x	x	x	x					Shoutbox, Featured on, More about me, Skill Set, Credits		The parallax effect and large-canvas scrolling design are well done. I especially like the addition of a skill set
Horse Pig Cow (Tara Hunt)	http://www.horsepigcow.com/	author, community marketing maven	personal brand portal	+	=	=	banner	x					x	x	x	x	Includes links to post categories beneath banner		There's lots of info here; a typical WordPress magazine theme packed with bells and whistles. The About page is well done; good ideas here, including a nice picture of Tara so you get a sense of who she is. I find all the stuff a little distracting, though. Nit pick: why not combine About and Contact?
Velagapati (Krishna Chaitanya)	http://www.velagapati.com/myself.html	web designer	Personal portfolio	-	+	-	banner	my self	Folio				reach me				Folio is broken into subcategories - web, graphics, paintings, printart		Page design is inconsistent; no real sense of this person. The portfolio images are very good and should take center stage.
Flyosity (Mike Rundle)	http://www.flyosity.com/	web designer	Design blog	-	=	-	x	x			on sidebar		x						"an interface design blog featuring tutorials, interviews, techniques and thoughts on building beautiful software" focus is on design-related content; site is simple and focused.
Nathan Sanders	http://nathan-sanders.com/	web designer	Personal portfolio	+	=	-	x	x	x				x						Like the addition of "my skills" and "my tools" in About page
Jon White Studio	http://jonwhitestudio.com/	web designer	Personal portfolio	+	=	=	banner	x									global nav includes Sharing History, Web, Today's Document	yes, through daily drawings on separate site	This is a focused site, communicating the sense of a person with a niche: web and graphic design for American civic projects. Resume is built within site and linked from About page. Simple site; good focus; personal, yet professional.
Jason Santa Maria	http://jasonsantamaria.com/	web designer	Personal portfolio	+	+	=	x	x	x			single articles on home page	footer				global nav includes Articles, Oddities, Daily Photo	yes, through daily photo and periodic posts	Big, professional site; lots of good content; extended footer contains extra quick-hit info. This is, in part, an experimental site, according to the author; the article on the main page could be a different design each time.
Noel Design (Terry Noel)	http://www.noeldesign.net/	web designer	Personal portfolio	+	=	=	x	x	Work									not particularly, but also doesn't feel stale	Simple, focused site. Home page contains all the basic elements: catchy design, subset of portfolio as thumbnails; brief About and Services in the footer.
Miles Dowsett	http://milesdowsett.com/index.php	web designer	Personal portfolio	+	+	=	x	x	x	sidebar, top right			x	say hello				content is a couple months old	Attractive site; good presentation of portfolio content; sidebar content changes per page; blog content is mainly design observations
Matt Dempsey	http://www.mattdempsey.com/	web designer	Personal portfolio	+	+	=	banner	x	Work				x	x					Beautiful design. Expanded footer contains About and Contact details, so front page has all you need to know (including a nice big "Featured Work" image). Nice touch with footer copy.
Tim Van Damme	http://timvandamme.com/	web designer	contact hub				Networks	x						x					Unique, compact contact hub.
Michael Adcock	http://michaeladcock.info/	IA/UX professional	extended resume	-	-	-	Welcome	home page content	Work samples				x	x			global nav includes Resume, UX Designer, MLIS graduate, Project Lead, Software Engineer, Humorist	blog content is starting to get stale	Deep site contains a lot of information about Michael, including detailed bullet list of his work on various projects. Many links go to related external sites; I wish the site nav stayed consistent. Blog content is IA-related.
Poetpainter (Stephen P. Anderson)	http://poetpainter.com/	IA/UX professional	extended business card	+	+	=	banner	x					Thoughts				Consulting	blog content is over a year old; recent project is listed on home page	Good, clean site; not particularly deep on content. Home page tells you most of what you need to know about what Anderson does. Contact info is on About and Consulting page.
Greenonions (Dan Brown)	http://blog.greenonions.com/	IA/UX professional	blog	-	=	=	x	About Dan									My Book	yes	Typical WordPress blog; content is medium to long posts on IA topics. About page has concise overview of work history, and includes contact info.
ugleah (Leah Buley)	http://ugleah.tumblr.com/	IA/UX professional	blog	+	=	=		x	Work				x				Photos, Lists	mostly	Typical Tumblr blog; nice design. Mixture of personal items and posts on IA topics. The Lists section is cool and unusual.
Mediajunkie (Christian Crumliah)	http://mediajunkie.com/	IA/UX professional	blog	+	=	=	banner	About Christian			on sidebar	main page	x	He writes!	He speaks!	Press		yes	Off the rack WordPress theme. Mixture of personal items and posts on IA topics. Site also promotes his book and speaking engagements.
Semantic Foundry (Will Evans)	http://blog.semanticfoundry.com/	IA/UX professional	blog	-	=	=	x	x					main page	x			Mission, Semantic Foundry (corporate site)	yes	Typical WordPress site. Mostly posts on IA topics. Includes recent Delicious bookmarks in sidebar. Feels dated and cluttered. Main corporate site is well done, with the whole review of the business on one long page, broken into screenfuls.
Playful Design (John Ferrara)	http://playfuldesign.ning.com/	IA/UX professional	community site	=	-	+	Main							x			global nav includes: My Page, Members, Forum, Groups, Blogs, Book	yes	This is a Ning site, "For discussion of how user experience designers can incorporate video game elements into conventional software and websites." Actual participation is almost non-existent, but this serves as a WordPress substitute.
Nick Finck	http://nickfinck.com/	IA/UX professional	personal brand portal	=	+	=	banner	x				x	Get in touch (in top third on home page)					yes	Very pretty site (I'd guess WordPress). The home page has a bit of everything, including a sense of who Nick is, a brief about statement, the latest tweet, and the latest blog post. It's a summary and drill-down approach. Subsequent pages are also kept concise and clean. Very nicely done.
Thom Haller	http://www.thomhaller.com/index.html	IA/UX professional	extended business card	-	-	-	banner										Teaching, Writing, Enabling		Ideas are good, but design is not. Pretty bog-standard HTML pages, circa 2005.
Pleasure and Pain (Whitney Hess)	http://whitneyhess.com/blog/	IA/UX professional	blog	=	=	=	Blog	x									Consulting, Writing, Archives	yes	There's that Outline WordPress theme again! Some IA content, and a lot of personal stuff.
Inkblurt (Andrew Hinton)	http://www.inkblurt.com/	IA/UX professional	blog	-	=	=	x	x									Writings, Archives	mostly
Dan Klyn: Information Architect	http://danklyn.com/index.html	IA/UX professional	portal	=	-	-							x	Book project			Services, Publication, Talk, Class, LinkedIn		Portal page has graphics that are too small; designed for 640x480? Links to WordPress blog
Jeff Parks	http://jeffparks.ca/	IA/UX professional	personal brand portal	=	+	=	banner	x					x	Contact Me			i.a. podcast	yes	Nicely designed portal page. About takes center stage. Blog and podcast summaries and latest tweets take up bottom half of page. Well done.
Louis Rosenfeld	http://louisrosenfeld.com/	IA/UX professional	extended business card	-	=	=	x	Biography				main page	on home page				Presentations	In the Media	Consulting	mostly	Clean site. Not too fancy, but very... usable!
Don Turnbull	http://donturn.com/	IA/UX professional	blog	=	=	=	x	x									Presentations		Publications	getting a little stale	Standard WordPress blog. Mostly IA-related content.
Dan Willis	http://www.dswillis.com/	IA/UX professional	personal brand portal	+	+	-													What I Do: UX (articles, case studies, deliverables, talks, UX crank) Not UX (drawings, photos, & other butterflies), Resume (html pdf)		Nice portal site. Big, catchy graphic up top, "about me" summary on home page, and a good breakdown of different types of representative work. Very nice.
LukeW Ideation + Design	http://www.lukew.com/	IA/UX professional	personal brand portal	+	+	=		x										Writings, Presentations	yes	Very nice design. Unique navigation on home page. Contains loads of blog posts, non-traditional navigation; they're organized in monthly chunks, but no way to navigate from post to post, and no way to see summaries of content.	